The association annually conducts a conference, usually in the fall of the year, to provide it's membership with opportunities to share new and innovative ideas or methods of the teaching of art. In order to further this aim, a newsletter is published quarterly to keep the membership informed of developments in the profession in the state of Florida and the nation. The publication also serves to inform the membership of upcoming events and to solicit new members from among those engaged in the teaching of art.

Because of it's concern with the education of youth in art, the association also annually conducts a symposium in art for high school youngsters. This serves the function of stimulating the improvement of art throughout the state and encourages at least some of the participants to continue their studies of art and art education beyond the secondary school level.

The association attempts to keep the public informed and concerned with art and the values of art in the curriculum. The association also compiles and distributes written material to support it's position. The material is also made available to legislators to assist them in their work.

Since the teaching of art is a nation-wide concern, the association maintains a relationship with the National Art Education Association which keeps the membership informed as to the developments, research, innovations and trends in the teaching of art all over the country and all over the world.
